Editor's note: The former provisions of chapters 1 to 12 of this title were repealed in their entirety by PL 10-76 § 1 and replaced by the provisions of PL 10-76, the "National Maritime Act, 1997" codified at chapters 1 to 13 of this title. PL 10-76 took effect April 1, 1998.

§ 501. Application of chapter.

Except for section 511 of this chapter which shall apply to foreign seamen of any nationality employed on foreign vessels, this chapter applies to citizens and nationals of the Federated States of Micronesia employed on any vessel, whether or not such vessel is registered, and includes citizens of the Federated States of Micronesia employed on foreign vessels.

Case annotations: Case annotations found throughout this title may refer to the earlier provisions of the National Maritime Act of 1993 that was repealed by PL 10-76, the National Maritime Act, 1997. These annotations are retained for reference purposes as some of the language of the National Maritime Act, 1997 is similar to the language of the former National Maritime Act of 1993.

A seaman's contract claim against the owner of the vessel upon which he served would be regarded as falling within exclusive admiralty and maritime jurisdiction of FSM Supreme Court. FSM Const. art. XI, § 6(a). Lonno v. Trust Territory (I), 1 FSM R. 53, 68-71 (Kos. 1982).

The Seaman's Protection Act, originally enacted for the entire Trust Territory by the Congress of Micronesia, relates to matters that now fall within the legislative powers of the national government under art. IX, § 2 of the Constitution, and has therefore become a national law of the Federated States of Micronesia under art. XV. That being so, a claim asserting rights under the Act falls within the jurisdiction of the FSM Supreme Court under art. XI, § 6(b) of the Constitution as a case arising under national law. 19 F.S.M.C. 401-437. Lonno v. Trust Territory (I), 1 FSM R. 53, 72 (Kos. 1982).

(2) Where the STCW Convention requires education and training arrangements, the Secretary may provide for equivalent arrangements.

(4) A seaman may waive his right to a hearing under this section and agree to the proposed suspension or revocation, PROVIDED HOWEVER, such waiver shall be in writing, and shall contain a statement that the seaman has had the opportunity to discuss the matter with the seaman's own attorney.

(5) At the hearing, unless the hearing is waived by the seaman under subsection (4) of this section, if the finding of unfitness is sustained, and the evidence so warrants, the Secretary may suspend or revoke the seaman's Certificate of Competency, or issue a public or private reprimand to the seaman.

(6) Where the decision is to suspend or revoke a Certificate of Competency, the written notice of decision shall:

§ 511. Port State control regarding certification of foreign seamen.

(1) While in any of the ports of the Federated States of Micronesia, every foreign vessel shall be subject to inspection by a Shipping Officer to verify that all seamen serving on board who are required to hold a Certificate of Competency or its equivalent are so certificated or hold an appropriate dispensation. Certificates of Competency or their equivalents issued to foreign seamen shall be accepted unless there are clear grounds for believing that a certificate has been fraudulently obtained or that the holder of a certificate is not the person to whom the certificate was originally issued.

(2) Inspections conducted by a Shipping Officer under subsection (1) of this section shall be limited to the following:

   (a) verification that all seamen serving on board who are required by the STCW Convention to be certificated hold a valid Certificate of Competency or its equivalent, or a valid dispensation;

   (b) assessment of the ability of the seamen on board the vessel to maintain watchkeeping standards as required by the STCW Convention if there are clear grounds for believing that such standards are not being maintained because, while in any of the ports or waters of the Federated States of Micronesia, any of the following has occurred:

      (i) the vessel has been involved in a collision, grounding, or stranding;

      (ii) there has been a discharge of any substance from the vessel when underway, at anchor or at berth, which discharge may violate the laws of the Federated States of Micronesia or any of its states, or violate an international convention to which the Federated States of Micronesia is a party, or international customary law;

      (iii) the vessel has been maneuvered in an erratic or unsafe manner, or navigational course markers or traffic separation schemes have not been followed.

(3) In the event that any deficiencies are found under subsection (1) of this section or under the inspection procedures conducted under subsection (2) of this section, the Secretary shall inform the master of the vessel in writing and, through appropriate diplomatic channels, the maritime authority of the nation whose flag the vessel is entitled to fly, so that appropriate action may be taken. Such notification shall specify the details of the deficiencies found and the grounds on which the Shipping Officer has determined that the deficiencies pose a danger to persons, property or the environment.

(4) Any of the following shall constitute deficiencies as set forth in subsection (3) of this section:

   (a) failure of seamen employed on the vessel to have any certificate required under the STCW Convention, or a valid dispensation therefor;

   (b) failure of navigational or engineering watch arrangements to conform to the requirements specified for the vessel by the flag nation;
(c) absence in a watch of a person qualified to operate equipment essential to safe navigation or the prevention of pollution; or

(d) inability of the master to provide rested persons for the first watch at the commencement of a voyage and subsequent relieving watches.

(5) If, taking into account the size and type of the vessel and the length and nature of the voyage, the deficiencies referred to in subsection (4) of this section are not corrected and it is determined that any such deficiency poses a danger to persons, property or the environment, the Secretary shall direct the Principal Shipping Officer to take steps to ensure that the vessel does not sail unless and until these deficiencies have been corrected to the extent that the danger has been removed.

(6) Failure to correct the deficiencies referred to in subsection (4) of this section shall be grounds for detaining the vessel.
